

WASHINGTON STATE SENATORS

TIME TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE

The continued economic health of Washington State and our communities depends on sound planning for economic growth and continued employment opportunities for our citizens. Planning for local economic health is good, sound policy. How can a jurisdiction ensure that its citizens and future citizens will have jobs, unless it plans for the retention and expansion of the existing local business base, and the recruitment of new businesses that are consistent with local needs? How can a jurisdiction really understand future infrastructure demands or whether it has sound land use plans, unless it has thought about how its economy will develop? How can a jurisdiction preserve its fiscal health without planning for its economic future?

SB 6070 is an investment in the future of our communities. It helps communities lay the proper framework for the planning needed to attract sustainable economies.

You can make a difference in building better communities by supporting housing opportunities and encouraging economic vitality.

Vote Yes for providing an economic development element in local comprehensive plans to help communities plan for economic vitality and jobs;

Vote Yes for clarifying that local communities plan for the number of homes needed to accommodate growth;

Vote Yes for establishing performance measures to help communities determine how they are accommodating growth;

Vote Yes for Senate Bill 6070
